WANT PUMPER OR WILL QUIT

Members of Lady Washington Hose Company of Poughkeepsie Vote to Withdraw From Fire Department Unless Machine is Furnished Them.

The volunteer members of Lady Washington Hose Company of Poughkeepsie have officially declared that they would withdraw from the service of the Poughkeepsie fire department unless a pumper for the use of the company was forthcoming from the city, and a letter to the Bridge City common council stating their views was ordered drafted at a meeting held Tuesday evening. The members of the hose company expressed indignation at the treatment they said they had received at the hands of the city. They said they had worked hard at fires for years, hazarding life and limb as well as clothing, in spite of the fact that the company has been equipped with merely a hose cart bequeathed to them by Young America Hose Company when it acquired a pumper. The letter of protest will be delivered at the common council meeting this evening.

CHAMBERS AFTER RADIOGRAMS

Said to Have Passed Between Walter Ward and His Father Following Killing of Peters.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. New York, April 18.—Officers of the Radio Corporation of America, were to be examined today by Deputy Attorney General W. W. Chambers regarding a series of messages reported to have passed between George S. Ward and his son, Walter, after the latter had killed Clarence Peters. "If there are any such radiograms, we want them," Chambers said. It was disclosed today that $3,000 belonging to the police pension fund of New Rochelle was invested in stock of the Ward Baking Company, while Walter S. Ward was a police commissioner of that city. That was revealed by Palmer E. Tubbs, a police commissioner and treasurer of the board of trustees of the police pension fund of that city. Tubbs said the investment was made before the slaying of Peters and that Ward was not at the meeting when the trustees voted to invest the money in stock.

NO LEISURE NOW EVEN FOR BOWERY HABITUÉS

By Telegraph to The Freeman. New York, April 18.—The acute labor shortage is being reflected in the Bowery, famous harbor of the unemployed.

The Bowery is practically deserted. Jobs are going begging. Employment agencies are in a quandary, investigation by an International News Service reporter revealed today. It is as Justice Elbert H. Gary, the steel magnate says, labor is scarcer, decidedly.

Ordinarily enticing offers of $25 to $30 a week, eight hours a day, and good living conditions confront the passerby from huge signs but there are few to pay attention to them.

The down and outers, from whose ranks unskilled labor hiring out is cranked, are hardly seen. Some agencies have been hit so hard by the non appearance of unemployed, that they have closed offices.

The only workers now applying for jobs nowadays are Chinese agents say.

The agencies attribute the acute shortage to the desertions of the cities by unskilled labor hiring out for farm work.

FORD, SHOOTING DONE, IS FAR FROM BROKE

By Telegraph to The Freeman. New York, April 18.—Henry Ford declared today that the cash balance of the Ford Motor Company still exceeds $200,000,000 in spite of large purchases of coal and timber lands, water power sites and branch plant investment, according to a dispatch from Detroit to the Wall Street Journal. Ford said, according to the dispatch that these investments were all paid for in cash where such arrangements could be made that the money he was spending simply came out of the current earnings. "We have not thought of borrowing any money," he said.

COURT DISPOSES OF FOUR CASES

Decker Pleads Guilty, Held Asks Leniency, Braxo Acknowledges Crime and Bash Will Stay in Jail Few Days Longer.

In county court which was convened this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Joseph M. Fowler, without a jury in attendance, four of the cases on the criminal calendar were disposed of when they were moved for trial by District Attorney Traver. Two prisoners indicted by the March grand jury were arraigned and entered pleas of not guilty to the crime charged.

Clinton R. Decker, charged by the grand jury with bigamy, through his attorney, Roscoe Ellsworth, changed his former plea of not guilty to guilty and sentence will be imposed later. Decker who now resides at Port Ewen is alleged to have married a second time while he still had a wife living. He is but 26 years old.

Nelson Held who was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of forging numerous checks of small amounts in town also changed his plea to guilty. Through his attorney, Walter J. Miller, he asked the court to be lenient as possible and promised to go to work and make restitution. He has a job to go to when released. After his statement had been taken and in reply to the question as to whether he had legal cause why judgment should not be pronounced he informed the court that he had not, except that he had at the time of the alleged crime been in a "crazy" condition and did not know what he was doing. He said he had met a friend whom he had not met in a long time and the friend had produced some liquor which had made him "crazy" and while in that condition had passed the checks. He stated that as proof of his good intentions he had not tried to run away when the crime was discovered as he had ample time to do but had remained in town to answer for the act. Sentence will be imposed later.

John Braxo also changed his former plea of not guilty to guilty to the crime charged. Robert Graves appeared for defendant. He is charged with rape, second degree. Sentence in this case will also be imposed later.

William Bush who was indicted on a charge of violating subdivision 2 of section 121.2 of the penal law, that of having intoxicating liquors in his possession, also through his attorney, John W. Eckert, entered a plea of guilty. Bush is alleged to have had liquor in his possession in the town of Shandaken on February 12, 1923, in violation of the "dry" law. Mr. Eckert informed the court that it appeared that the liquor had not been in the possession of the defendant for the purpose of sale but was for personal consumption. Bush was intoxicated at the time and did not remember the transaction. He has been in jail since February 14, 1923. In answer to the usual questions he said he had once a long time ago been convicted of receiving stolen goods. He was fined $100 or 70 days in jail. Bush has already served over sixty days in jail which is applied to the sentence of the court making his time to serve but a few more days.

Micheline Iannone of Saugerties who was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of tampering with a gas meter was arraigned and through his attorney W. H. Fessenden entered a plea of not guilty. Mr. Fessenden asked 30 days in which to demur to the indictment. The request was granted.

Charles Van Wageningen, indicted on a charge of abduction alleged to have been committed in the town of Wauarsing on December 18, 1922, entered a plea of not guilty through his attorney Frank W. Brooks who asked twenty days in which to demur to the indictment. The motion was granted.

There were no other cases ready and court went into recess until this afternoon at 2 o'clock when criminal work will be taken up. The jurors having been excused until that time. The Marano case will probably be taken up at that time.

GOVERNOR DISAPPROVES PROPOSAL TO ISSUE $15,000,000 PARK BONDS

Park Extension Needed, He Admits, But It Can be Paid for Out of Current Revenues Year by Year—Can't Submit Two Bond Issues to People in One Year.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Albany, April 18.—In a message to the legislature today, Governor Smith, while admitting the advantage of extending the state park system, disapproved of the proposition to bond the state for $15,000,000 upon the grounds that there can be only one bond issue submitted to the people in a single year, and that the proposal for a bond issue for state hospitals and charitable institutions was the first need of the state. The governor points out that the park extension proposition as mapped out by the New York state association can be carried out by appropriating from the current revenues of the state $550,000 this year, and $2,000,000 each year thereafter for seven years. The governor recently recommended a bond issue of $50,000,000 for the reconstruction and rehabilitation of state institutions deemed to be open to fire hazard or of a dilapidated character. He took this step following a fire at the Manhattan state hospital where it was discovered that the fire fighting apparatus was inadequate.

Unusual Tensity in Campaign of D. A. R. For President General

Mrs. Cook Leading Field of Four—Workers Discard Nice Scruples And Go Out to Win at Any Cost.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Washington, April 18.—The tensity, unprecedented even in national presidential conventions, has crept into the D. A. R. election for president general during the past 24 hours. Over-ardent campaign workers appear to be determined to return their particular candidates victorious, regardless of method. Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook, of Cooksburg, Pa., appeared to be leading the field of candidates in the fight for the presidency general. The rather favorable impetus being accorded the campaign of Mrs. G. Wallace W. Hanger, of the District of Columbia has received a decided setback in last 24 hours because of a recent speech delivered by her in which she advocated bestowing upon the D. A. R. president general the title of "First Lady of the Land" now held by the president's wife. A preliminary poll of the various delegations would indicate that Mrs. Cook will win by a small majority. Mrs. Cook will enter the first ballot with a positive support of 569 votes; Mrs. Hanger with about 480. The unknown quantity which may throw the election either way or to a dark horse is the vote controlled by Mrs. William Cumming Jones, the third candidate. While Mrs. Story is not conceded any material chance, the 150-odd votes she controls, thrown either way, would have a marked influence.

ESOPUS CREEK DAMAGE CLAIMS

There was a hearing in several claims before Damage Commission No. 5, on Monday and Tuesday, for damages by reason of the taking of the waters of the Esopus Creek. The claims of Irving Tapp, Mrs. Dennis McLaughlin and James Spencer were also heard before the Commission. Former Mayor William D. Brimmer was the attorney for the claimants and William H. Grosan represented the City of New York.

SHOE WORKERS IN OUTLAW STRIKE

3,000 Women Dismiss Officers and Quit Work—Union Under Contract to Furnish Help for Factories.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Lynn, Mass., April 18.—Three thousand women shoe workers struck today in 53 local factories. The women were members of the "stitchers' local, Amalgamated Shoe Workers of America. Their refusal to work will tie up shoe manufacturing in the 53 plants, leaders say. The women voted to dismiss their officers and then took a strike vote to protest the "high handed methods of the general officers of the United Shoe Workers of America." The latter union is now faced with the problem of keeping its contract with the Lynn Shoe Manufacturers' Association, which binds the union to furnish help for the association's plants. In order to do so, the union would have to draw on Brookline, Rochester, Salem, Haverhill and other shoe towns, which it denies it will do. Trouble is forecast if such a course is taken.

SHORTAGE OF LABOR IN WEST

But it is Because Men are too Particular or are Laid up From Effects of Bootleg Liquor, Say Employment Agencies.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Chicago, April 18.—Men who are physically fit to "rough it"—that is, men who possess the necessary brawn to accomplish the tasks which require manual labor in various industries, are a scarce commodity throughout the middle west.

This was the consensus of opinion advanced by a series of agencies here today to International News Service in support of Judge E. H. Hall's declaration that a shortage of labor exists.

Approximately 1,200 men are being shipped daily to cities and towns within a radius of 400 miles from Chicago. Managers of these agencies declare it is somewhat early to secure laborers for outside work and that the labor shortage will continue, at least until the weather moderates. Construction work, even within 100 miles of Chicago, which for some time has been paying common laborers 45 cents an hour and their board, is practically at a standstill. It was revealed, largely because the class of men who take the jobs are of a migratory nature.

Hundreds of unemployed loiter about the offices of the agencies each day, but when work is offered, they decline with muttering of "not enough money" or "the hours are too long" and other similar explanations, employment managers asserted.

These same managers assert that the only panacea for the labor shortage, as they see it, is for the government to permit the influx of more foreign labor and the imprisonment of all persons who dispose of illicit liquor. It is mostly liquor and concoctions of this sort, they aver, which incapacitate men and makes them bedridden for weeks at a stretch, thereby precipitating a labor shortage.

On the other hand, the agencies declare, the saw mills and the steel mills have a plentiful supply of men and laborers have been having to make application direct to the superintendents of these mills. This is attributed to the wages, which strike a higher scale than those in several other industries, they said.

CLOUDY WEATHER FOR FIRST CLEVELAND GAME

By Telegram to The Freeman. Cleveland, O., April 18. Cloudy skies and typical April weather was in prospect when White Sox and Indians clashed in the opening game of the American League season at Dunn Field here this afternoon.

The Cleveland team, with a lineup differing materially from last year, is said to be much faster than ever before, but the experts question whether it possesses the "punch" that former wearers of the uniform have displayed. Lutske will replace the veteran Gardner at third. Summa will be roaming right field and other Gusto or Browner, the latter secured from Washington last winter will guard the initial sack.

Either Czeleski or Sherrod Smith ex-Dodger, will pitch for Cleveland.

LITTLE LAMP WARMS WATER

Operating 24 Hours Daily With Current at Ten Cents a Kilowatt Hour is Cheap.

Not only should drinking water intended for poultry be kept from freezing so that the hens can drink at all times, but, according to scientific poultry raisers, it should also not be cold enough to chill the birds. Both requisites may be provided for by the use of this inexpensive electric water warmer.

An ordinary pail or pan may be used with the addition of a large tin can or small pail for the heating unit. If made of galvanized iron, the parts will last longer. Arms riveted to the can extend over the edge of the water pail. Care must be taken to solder around the rivet holes on the outside, for the lamp container must be water-tight.

An ordinary metal lamp socket is soldered or crimped into a tin disk large enough to cover the container. This cover must be either a tight-fitting lid or be made to fasten with a spring or catch.

In all but the coldest weather a 15-watt lamp will warm a ten-quart pail sufficiently. Operating 24 hours a day with current at 10 cents a kilowatt hour, the warmer will cost 3.6 cents, which is worth while if it adds only two eggs a day to an otherwise doubtful cold weather production. In severe winter weather, it may even prevent the loss of some of the hens.—J. H. V. in Popular Science Monthly.

GREEN FEEDS FOR CHICKENS

Where Fowls Have Unlimited Range In Summer There Is No Difficulty—Different In Winter.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

If the best results are to be obtained with poultry, they must be furnished with a plentiful supply of green feed. Where fowls have unlimited range on a farm they will secure green feed during the spring and summer, but during the winter it must be supplied for them.

The question of how to supply the best feed at the least cost is one that each poultry keeper must decide largely for himself. It will probably make but little difference what kind of green feed is supplied provided it is reliable by the fowls. Cabbages, turnips, beets, potatoes, etc., are suitable for this purpose. The larger roots and the cabbages may be suspended by means of a wire or string or they may be placed on the floor, in which case it would be well to split the turnips or beets lengthwise with a large knife. Potatoes and turnips should be fed cooked. The mangels are an excellent root for feeding raw.

Cut clover, soaked in boiling water, fed alone or with the mash, is good, say poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. Clover meal and ground alfalfa make very good feeds for this purpose. Where the fowls are yarded and not enough green feed is furnished by the yards, a small patch of clover, alfalfa, or rape may be sown. Any one of these, if frequently mowed, will furnish a great quantity of green feed in a form relished by the fowls. Canada field peas may also be sown for this purpose, and when fed in a tender, crisp condition are eaten readily. Rye is a good crop for late fall and early spring, for it will germinate and grow in cold weather. As a general thing, fowls should have once a day about all the green feed they will eat.

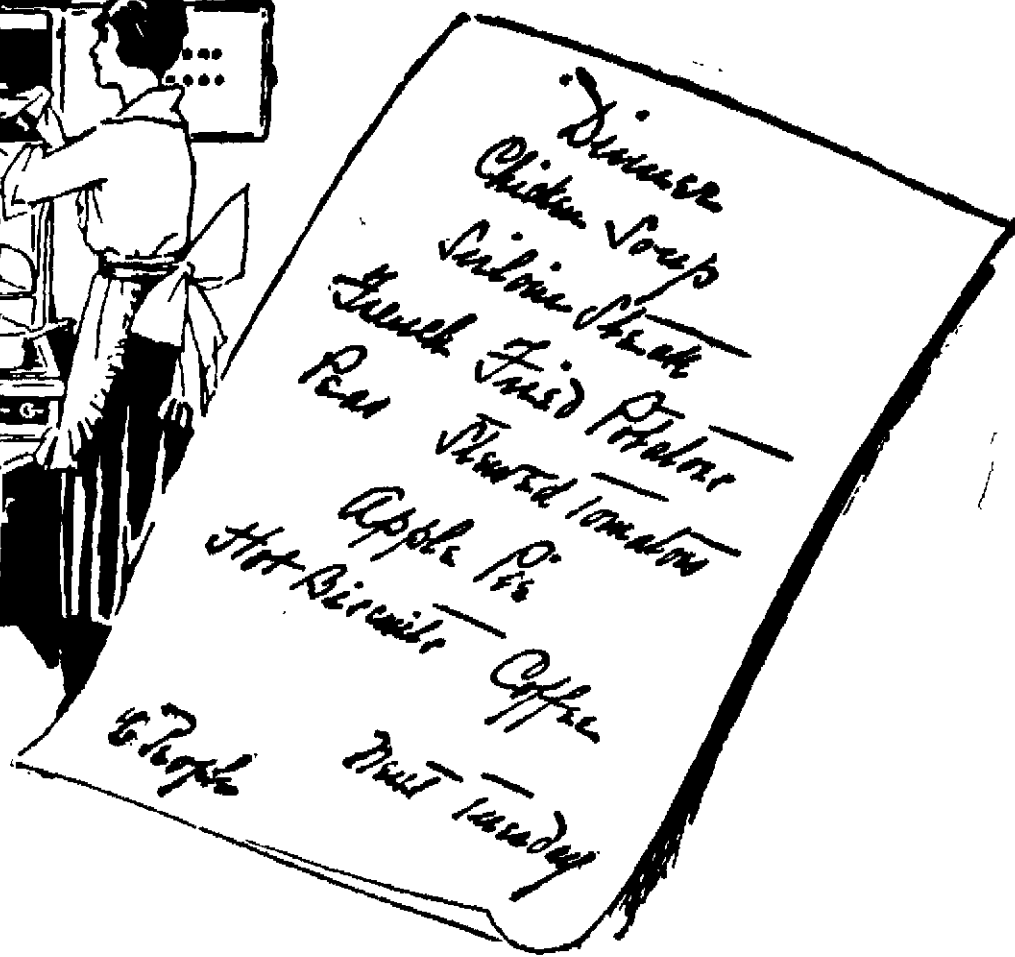

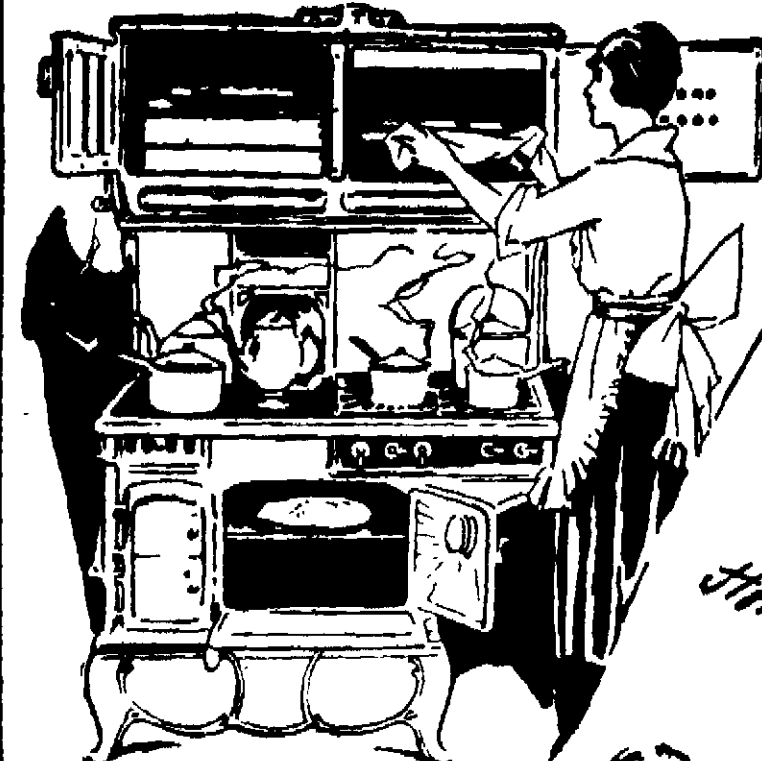

POWDER CONTROLS HEN LICE

Mixture of Gasoline, Stock Dip and Dry Cement Will Prove Quite Effective.

Common hen lice that live on the hairs, feathers and skin of the fowls can be controlled by treating with a home-made powder composed of mixing three parts of gasoline and one part of stock dip and adding enough dry cement to make a powder. Hold the bird with its head down and apply the mixture by working in the feathers.

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

by S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift.

To the American who visits the Mediterranean countries the fact stands out quite clearly that America should be more alert commercially in these regions. Other nations, notably Great Britain, are getting themselves strongly entrenched in the Near East from the standpoint of trade and commerce.

At home we produce so much more than we consume that it is in keeping with national thrift and efficiency that we find outlets for our products wherever possible.

The political situation in the Near East is, of course, not yet stabilized, but sooner or later things will settle down and America should be in a position to compete with all other nations for the rich trade of these lands.

One cannot visit these countries, many of which have a civilization as ancient as the oldest document of human history, without being impressed with the fact that the younger generations are adopting a new viewpoint toward life. These people are today weighed down with traditions and customs entirely out of step with modern progress. But the young people are becoming imbued with the ideals of Western Europe, and the next few years will witness pronounced changes.

These facts especially impress the American visitor to Turkey. Constantinople today suggests a city soon to enjoy a great commercial awakening.

Americans stand high in the eyes of the people of the Near East. They are impressed by our altruism, and have been deeply moved by our unselfish policies in dealing with problems involving the general good of mankind. And it would in no sense disabuse them of these sentiments were American business interests to display a more aggressive attitude. In fact, closer commercial contact with our people would be beneficial to them as an educational influence. It would teach them the superiority of modern efficiency in business as compared with their archaic methods.

There are many phases of thrift. The development of broader markets for American products would mean the elimination of waste at home. And it would mean also the introduction of thrifter methods abroad, because as we become greater sellers we also become both greater buyers and greater teachers.

Today's Sermonette.

No man can live happily who regards himself alone—who turns everything to his own advantage. Go forth into the busy world and love it; interest yourself in its life; smile kindly in its joys and sorrows; try what you can do for men rather than for what you can make them do for you, and you will know that it is to have men more yours than if you were their king and master.—Boston Transcript.

Starn English Law.

In England the great Lord Salisbury was once bailed into court because he was employing an unlicensed chauffeur. He sought to explain to the court that he understood the chauffeur had a license. The judge said Salisbury had no right to assume anything. He promptly fined all hands and regretted that there was no authority to send anybody to jail.—Dearborn Independent.

Soviet Russia, which shocked the sensibilities of the whole civilized world by executing Monsignor Budkewicz, Vicar-General of the Roman Catholic Church in Russia, is likely to add another to its monstrous crimes by executing His Holiness Tikhon, Patriarch of All Russia, head of the Greek Catholic Church. The trial of the Patriarch had been set for April 19, but was postponed to April 17 when the European Powers notified the Soviet they would break off all negotiations with Russia if the Patriarch were condemned to death. The wave of indignation that swept the world over the death of Monsignor Budkewicz does not seem to have stopped the Bolshevik desire for the blood of prelates. The charges against Tikhon are similar to those against the Roman Catholic clergy.

Decoration for Dresses Popular
Here and Abroad.Garments That Are Simple of Outline
Feature Panels, Sleeves, Cape Effects, Flounces.

Plaids have recently caught the fancy of the Parisienne as well as of the American woman, asserts a fashion correspondent in the New York Tribune. Dresses simple of outline that feature plaids either in the form of panels, sleeves, cape effects, flounces or the like are rushing in upon us at a great speed.

Plaids sometimes serve as trimmings in the form of inset motifs, made either of the same fabric used for the dress or suit or a contrasting one. The material is made into squares or oblongs after it is very finely plaited and then applied to the garment.

Ribbons as trimmings are in great favor and quantities of many combinations of ribbons are seen. Coats close at the side with a ribbon which has streamers so long that they trail on the ground. Soutache braid trimming is also in great demand. "One couturier has a youthful model made of serge having no ornamentation other than squares of soutache which alternate with serge squares.

Heavy wool embroidery done in a loop stitch, and which gives the appearance of tapestry, is among this season's novel trimmings. This embroidery is sometimes sheared to form little square tufts which stand away from the surface of the fabric about one-quarter of an inch in depth. Sometimes a part of the pattern is clipped and the rest is left in tight loops. This trimming is used to form deep borders on coats as well as collars and cuffs.

In addition to loop stitch needlework, there are effects achieved by means of curiously formed stitches, some of which give the appearance of four. When the loop stitch is used it is sometimes varied by being caught down with a stitch of silk embroidery. At one French house embroideries along the lines of ancient motifs are being featured.

Among the leather trimmings that are being shown are those of patent and plain kid and suede. The latter sometimes perforated to make it more ornate. The highly glazed leathers are in red, blue and black, and look like gelatin paillettes when applied in narrow bands. Leather is also used as a foundation for embroideries. A number of designers are using heavy leather tassels with very ornate heads as trimmings on topcoats, which have large pocket motifs done in embroidered leather or in leather applied on cloth.

IN BRACELETS AND EARRINGS

Pearls Are Effectively Used for These Decorations—Floral Bandeau for the Debutante.

A novel idea for the debutante is a floral bandeau with matching bracelet developed from black velvet, or gold and silver ribbon bands. Small groups of flowers are arranged either across the front or at one side of the bandeau, and a tiny cluster of them adorns the bracelet which encircles the wrist closely in the manner of the 1890 mode.

For the woman who prefers a turban to a bandeau or other form of head-dress there are evening turbans developed from flowers or formed of jeweled bands with tulle and floral trimmings.

A fad of the moment in Paris is the wearing of hats with dinner and informal evening gowns.

The vogue for earrings continues, especially the tassel earring fashioned entirely of pearls, or of pearls in combination with other stones. Some of these tassel earrings are so long that they touch the shoulder of the wearer.

Drop earrings of pearls are particularly effective when worn by the Oriental type of woman, whose black hair is drawn tightly back into a large knot at the nape of the neck. With earrings of this sort bracelets made of four or five strands of small pearl beads mounted on a clasp of marcasite or onyx are worn.

Plutarch's Philosophy.
He regarded nothing to be cheap that was superfluous, for what one does not need is dear at a penny; and it was better to possess field, where the plow goes and the cattle feed, than the gardens that require much watering and sweeping.—Plutarch.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 18, 1923.

PROTECTING THE FARMER.

Among the vigorous opponents to the Straus bill, which would abolish the council of farms and markets, is Senator Mortimer Y. Ferris, chairman of the joint legislative committee, which in 1921 made a survey of the department and brought about a reorganization of the department of agriculture and the department of foods and markets, based on the same plan as the state board of regents to prevent the injection of politics into the bureau. In a recent statement Senator Ferris gives convincing reasons why he is opposed to the abolishment of the council.

In a resume of the all-important subject Senator Ferris says there is no state in the union or country in the world with a better or purer milk supply, that a definite plan of suppressing tuberculosis in cattle is progressing, that cooperative associations, there being more than twelve hundred, have made long strides toward bringing producer and consumer closer together, that market news is collected and distributed in papers having a total circulation of more than a million papers daily, and that fraud has been checked not only in the quality of food but in weight or measure. He admits that space would not permit a detailed account of all accomplishments and he gives the above as but a few of the forward steps to aid not only the farmer but the consumer.

"It is a matter of pride to me," says Senator Ferris, after mentioning the council as a truly representative body that the Republican party had the vision to see and the courage to declare that this great department, touching the vital interests of all our people should be established on a basis of permanency and be removed forever from politics. While this principle was decided upon under the pressure of war conditions, the Republican party maintained its adherence to the principle even after the coming of peace. It has consistently refused, from the standpoint of patronage or from any other motive, to retreat from the high stand which it took in establishing the present department. Under the non-partisan plan there has been gathered together a group of experts, selected on their merits, who are directing the department's activities free from the embarrassment of political domination."

THE RICHEST MAN.

Though not a matter of great importance, it is interesting to learn that it is now "very doubtful" that the Rockefeller name can be associated with the richest man in the world. Employing the senate's recent investigation of gasoline and petroleum, the Wall Street Journal reaches the conclusion that the richest one of this family now is John D. Rockefeller, Jr., whose shares in nine of the companies of the Standard Oil group have a market value of something over $410,000,000. It appears that the younger Rockefeller also has other large properties. It seems that the elder Rockefeller has reduced his individual fortune by philanthropies and distributions among his children in anticipation of death. The article referred to gives the impression that Henry Ford is now a close contender with John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for the distinction of being the richest man in the world, and that if he has not already achieved that distinction he is likely soon to do so.

Certainly Mr. Ford can claim to be the most generally popular Croesus of the world. His great wealth has not only failed to arouse any resentment among the masses of the people but he is even spoken of as a possible candidate for president. Presumably the explanation of this in large part is to be found in his low priced cars and his known generosity to his employees. He has revealed no qualifications for the president's office or for any part of the business of state-manship, and of course the proposition is not taken seriously, but may be accepted as proof that he has won the distinction of being the only man of vast wealth who enjoys wide popular approval.

Even Democratic papers are having some fun at the expense of the Smith administration. The Lockport Union-Sun, Democrat, had this to say relative to a bill introduced by a Democratic senator from Brooklyn:

"The State Senate appears to take its work lightly enough at times. It has just passed, 'with laughter,' a bill by Senator Love of Brooklyn, which would require the fixing of bells for half an hour before the opening of primary elections. By a strange oversight no provision was made for bell-ringers, and thus the politicians neglected an opportunity to create a means to spend a little more money to help out some worthy constituents."

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper, enclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. A pot of hyacinths I had last spring is coming up and budding slowly. One bud has blasted. Is the earth too poor? What shall I do to have a healthy plant?

2. What are jackrabbits and cottontail rabbits?

3. What part of the world has most birds?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. How many feathers do they get from an ostrich?

If you mean how many finished plumes for hat trimming, we can't reply. There are 42 large plumes called "major quills" on each wing, and on foreign ostrich farms the practice is to clip the feathers every six months, so that a double supply is got. The net clipping is about 1 pound of feathers per bird. The "plumes" when sold for trimming, are usually built up specimens, one long fine plume being used for outer surface, and padded underneath with pieces not long enough to be used separately.

2. Are fleas that bother city people in houses dog fleas? How can they be exterminated?

In temperate climates the fleas that occasionally get established in houses are cat and dog fleas as a rule. They may be brought in on clothing by a person. Disinfect your pets, clean all floors especially places where pets sleep. Use hot soaps, and put kerosene in floor cracks. Carpets may have a deep layer of naphthalene flakes spread on, and the room tightly closed for 24 hours. This will drive out adults, but won't kill eggs.

3. We are offered a prize in our Junior League for answering nature questions. Please tell me why a squirrel has a bushy tail.

The bushy tail seems to be a blanket to wrap around the squirrel's toes and cuddle his nose. In winter sleeping or lying quiet. Cats use their tails in the same way. The flying squirrel uses its tail to help its sailing downward flight.

WHY

Shellfish Beds Should Be Protected From Birds

Complaints that ducks destroy numbers of commercially valuable shellfish in Massachusetts have been received and investigated by the United States biological survey at Washington, which reports that all the important shellfishing grounds of the state were visited, testimony was taken, observations made and specimens collected. Of the 11 species of wild fowl the stomachs of which were examined, none had eaten a significant quantity of shellfish other than the common mussel or the scallop. As the mussel is unimportant, the inquiry resolved itself into the study of the relation of wild fowl to scallops.

"Scooters," or "coots," of two species, reports the survey, were found to be the chief offenders. The yellow-billed coot is not so hardy as the white-winged and at season when damage to scallops is said to be greatest, in the most severe part of the winter, comparatively few of this species are present. The white-winged coot, however, is abundant and makes nearly half of its food from scallops. The bird does no good to offset the damage which it does and the economic status is a problem.

"Fishermen want the open season extended so that they can shoot the birds, but it is inexpedient and impracticable to extend the season on a single specimen of duck. It has been found that scooter and other wild ducks are easily driven away from the scallop beds by running a boat near them. They feed on the beds only by day. It would seem, in the opinion of the survey, that scallop fishermen should be willing to undertake the small cost of patrolling the waters over the scallop beds from which their income is derived, but for the upkeep of which they are at no expense."

GET RICHES FROM RUBBISH

Why Cities of the Old World Have Revenue Which Are Unknown in America.

This country is looked upon by the less bountiful and more thrifty countries of Europe as a land of great extravagance and waste. In Paris, long before the household is awake, a whole army of scavengers and gleaners has passed through his back lane and ransacked his garbage tin, some collecting hair, some rags, some bones. By eight o'clock in the morning there is very little left for the regular department to carry away. Modern science has discovered ways of turning almost every kind of rubbish into something useful. Refuse is burned in specially constructed furnaces and the heat produced generates steam to drive the dynamos that produce electric light. The ashes are used to make concrete. Soapstuds, instead of flowing away to pollute the streams and rivers, are strained, mixed with lime and pressed into fuel bricks which when burned give out a greater heat than coal gas would produce. The carcass of a horse may be put to almost endless uses. The hair is woven into haircloth or used to stuff mattresses. The hide makes good leather. Glue and gelatine are obtained from the tendons. The bones reappear as knife handles and buttons. Other by-products are prussiate of potash and artificial manure. Fish scales are the material from which some of the most beautiful artificial pearls are manufactured.

How Birds Soar.

How birds soar remains an unsolved problem. Observation has failed to detect their method, and theories need confirming facts. The writer hoped to get some new light on the matter when once from the edge of a cliff near the top of Mt. Fremont he watched through powerful glasses a golden eagle calmly sailing in circles below him, apparently in perfectly quiet air. He had studied such soaring from below, and had discovered no movement of the wings. Perhaps, he thought, something more could be seen from above a bird, but he failed to detect a single quill tremble. The wings were absolutely motionless. Yet he knew that if he shot a rifle-ball through that eagle's heart it would tumble to the earth head over heels, and that its outstretched wings would little hinder it.

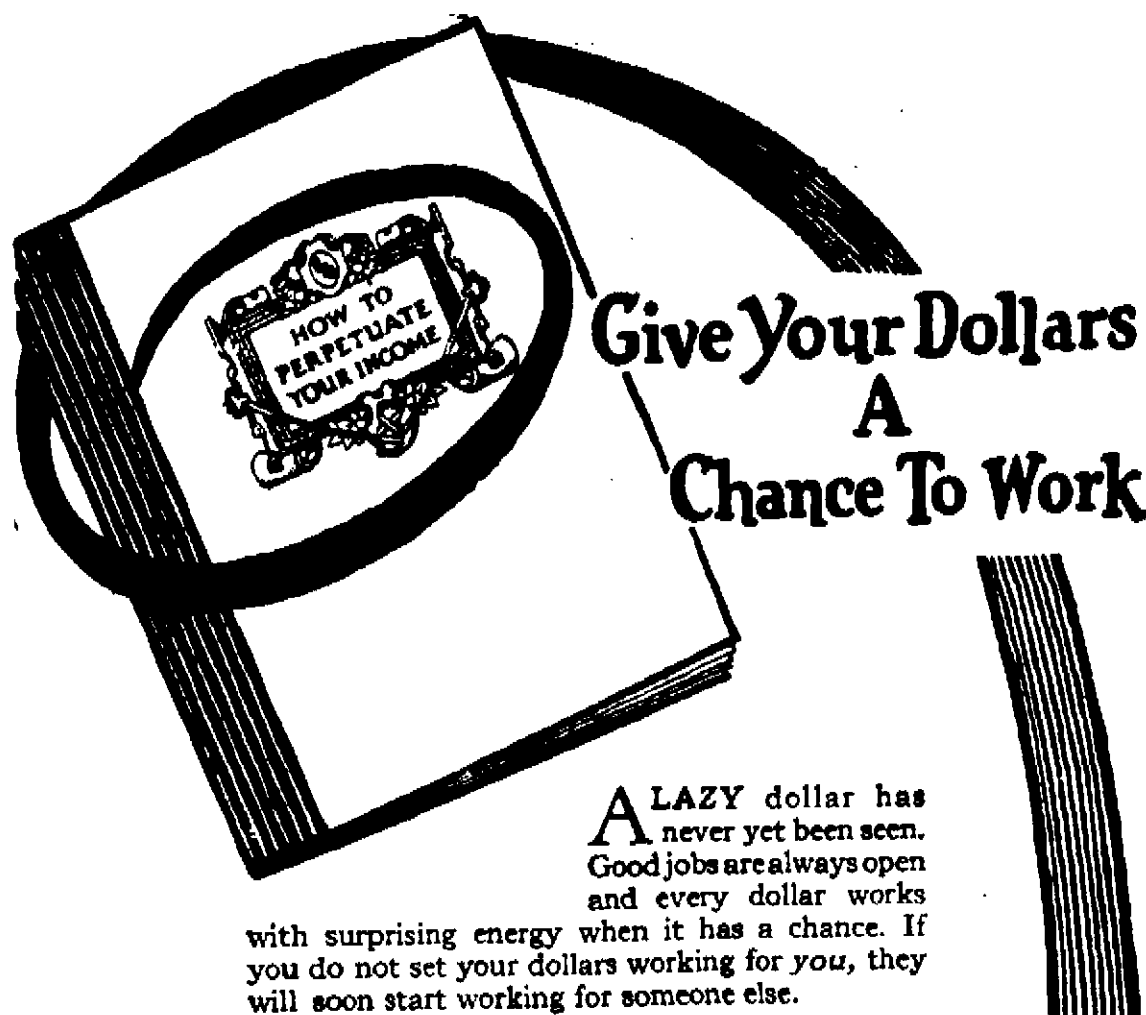

Why Vibration Affects Sound.

It is said that certain experiments have shown that a vibration of sound having an amplitude of less than one-twelve-millionth of a centimeter could still affect the sense of hearing. Such a vibration would be so short that it would have to be enlarged 100 times before the most powerful microscope could render it visible, supposing that it were capable of being seen at all. Old persons, it is said, do not hear high notes which are audible to young persons and there is reason to believe that babies hear notes that are inaudible to their elders.

Why Eastern Peoples Like Pearls.

In Persia and Arabia pearls are believed to be conducive to contentment of mind, body and soul, and the beauties of ancient Egypt, about the time of good old Tut-Ankh-Amen, took pulverized pearls to make their eyes big and brilliant. Just as atropine is used today. The Hindus, who recognized only four shades in the color of pearls—yellow, honey, white and blue—wear the first to bring wealth; the second, the honey, to get understanding; the third to bring fame and the fourth, the blue pearl, to bring them good fortune in any of their undertakings.

Joseph Rosch, a Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, dated the 7th day of April, 1923, and filed on April 9th, 1923, with the complaint in the office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster, in the City of Kingston, in said State. The object of this action is to procure a judgment of foreclosure of a mortgage executed by Joseph Deltz and Eli Mirelowitz to the plaintiff on April 5th, 1921, to secure the payment of the sum of seventeen hundred dollars ($1,700.00) and interest, and for a sale of the premises described in said mortgage, and that all of the defendants above named may be barred and foreclosed of all their right, claim, title and equity of, in and to the said mortgaged premises, and each and every part thereof, and that the said premises may be decreed to be sold according to law. That the premises described in said mortgage and which are sought to be sold in this proceeding are briefly described as follows:
All that tract or parcel of land, situate in the Town of Rochester, County of Ulster and State of New York, bounded and described as follows: Situate on the north side of the Rondout Kill beginning by a white oak tree on the southerly corner of lands formerly of John H. and Josiah Van Wageningen, from thence running north forty-eight degrees west twenty-five chains and sixty links to the bounds of formerly Ephraim K. Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRHAM BONNER

COW'S CRADLE SONGS

New Mrs. Cow had a lovely calf. It was her beloved child and wherever Mrs. Cow went the calf followed along.

During the day the calf went with his mother to the pasture and loved the meadow and the brook which ran below and the sun which made one feel so sleepy.

Yes, he liked to sleep. Sleep was so pleasant and restful a thing and he had to be rested, for goodness only knew he did get tired and sleepy for he was young.

It was hard to keep one's eyes open all the time when one's eyes were as yet so unused to the world.

But Mother Cow, too, seemed to like to rest, though not so much as he did. They both loved to dream day dreams and have drowsy naps.

Oh, day dreams were particularly nice.

And before these naps and before it was time when they decided to day-dream Mother Cow would look at her son out of her big loving eyes.

This was one of the songs which she called a Cow's Day Dream Cradle Song:

My dear little calf, my dear little calf, You're ready to sleep, you're ready to sleep. Perhaps some folks will say a calf cannot sleep, But do they know all they can of a calf?

You're my dear, you're my dear, And you're nothing to fear, So have a day dream As you lie by the stream.

Then Mrs. Cow and her calf had a nice day dream and later on Mrs. Cow bug one of the other Cow Cradle songs as she called them.

"The Calf Followed."

This was the song: My darling was one You're my own little son Mother loves her was one, Her dear little son.

Others might not call you was But this because she don't love thee As a little pet in the way, Mother Cow loves you, I say.

Then Mother Cow chewed her cud and began once more:

My son my son may you never know harm, Should harm come your way I'd be filled with alarm I love you Sweet Calf, you're the joy of my heart.

May the day be far distant when we are to part, And yet again Mother Cow hummed a cradle song:

I'd rock a baby, only you are too big, On my knee I'd ride you and dance you a jig But for that you're too big, too fine a big son.

And besides in cow circles it's not what we call "done."

The calf did not seem to object to this. He turned his soft eyes toward his mother and again she sang:

Go to sleep and rest your dear head, And take a rest here on a nice meadow bed, Of course rest your legs and your body also, And Mother will sing as they say "soft and low."

She will sing you a song It will not take long But rest you must eat Of this grass here so sweet.

So Mother Cow and the calf had a fine grazing time of it. The calf and they enjoyed themselves so much and Mother Cow taught the calf of the ways and customs in Cow Circles, or in Cow Meadows, as she expressed it.

And together they had a beautiful lary time of it. They never worked too much, nor did they think too hard. They never did anything they didn't feel like doing.

Oh they had a gorgeous time, a beautiful time. It was happiness for Mrs. Cow and it was happiness for the calf.

And they were often admired and the calf was not only loved by his mother but all the farmer's children.

So what did it matter they were lazy?

No one expected them to be wise and they were not going to make people change their expectations. No, not they!

There Was Nothing Better.

Edith, aged four, accompanied her mother on a shopping expedition one afternoon, and stopping in front of a candy store, she exclaimed "Oh, mamma, let's go in and buy some chocolate drops."

"No dear," replied her mother, "we must save our money for something better."

"But, mamma," persisted Edith, "I don't believe we will ever find anything better."

Literature.

"Oh, I dearly love fairy tales," exclaimed the new young bride.

"Yeah; now you do," said the seasoned wife, "but wait'll he doesn't hand you any other kind."

MORE GOOD FOODS

In the spring when all the winter store of canned and preserved fruit is gone, a very good conserve is the following:

Raisin Peach Conserve.—Wash and soak three cupsful of dried peaches; cut them into small pieces and use three cupsful of water. In the morning after soaking all night add one and one-half cupsful of chopped blanched almonds, three cupsful of raisins and three cupsful of sugar; cook until the mixture thickens—about thirty minutes. Add the almonds just at the last, scald them well and pour the conserve into glasses. Seal with paraffin when cold.

Cheese Spread.—Put two cupsful of milk into a double boiler, when hot add two teaspoonsful of salt, one-half cupful of flour, mixed well with four table-spoonsful of butter, add one pound of cream cheese cut fine, cook until smooth, beating well. The addition of a little chopped pepper or pimento will vary the flavor. Spread on buttered bread or wafers, or use as a sandwich filling.

Drop Cakes.—Cream one half cupful of butter, add gradually, while beating constantly, one cupful of sugar, then add two well beaten eggs, two squares of melted chocolate, one cupful of chopped almonds, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of vanilla, two-thirds of a cupful of bread flour. Beat well and drop by spoonfuls on a buttered baking sheet about two inches apart. Bake in a moderate oven.

Buttercup Jelly.—Soak one-half of a box of gelatin in one-half cupful of cold water. Mix the beaten yolks of three eggs with a pint of boiling water and pour over the gelatin. When dissolved add one cupful of sugar, one cupful of orange juice and the juice of a lemon. Strain, mold and serve when cold with whipped cream.

DO YOU KNOW that the great demand for heating equipment prevented 5,000 home-owners from getting ARCOLA in the Fall of 1921?

TYPE OF MEN THE WORLD NEEDS

Men who think only of themselves—of making money, of finding pleasure, of giving play to their passion and pride—are not the type of men who are given to courteous treatment of others. They are not men who loved during the course of their miserable lives and they are not mourned at their death. Such men do not contribute much to the world's progress.

This old world needs courteous men—men who recognize not only that they have a right to live, but that they have an obligation to let others live; men who are mindful that they are dependent upon others for what they eat and for what they wear and the shelter that keeps the hot rays of the sun from piercing their skulls in summer and the cold blasts from freezing them to death in the winter. When men are thus mindful of their true position in life toward God and man, possessing certain privileges and mindful of certain obligations, they become courteous. It is true that "no man liveth unto himself" and the sooner men find it out the better it will be for all of us.

One of the severest tests of courtesy is to discharge an inefficient employee. Most men fail to be as courteous as a man about whom an article appeared in one of the magazines. This man reserved to himself the duty of dismissing employees. He himself had sad memories of how on one occasion he had been "fired" in his earlier experiences. He decided that never would any person leave his employ without knowing why he or she was dismissed.

One of the young men in this man's establishment had manifested little interest in the merchandising business in which the employer was engaged. His discharge was necessary. The manager wanted to do it forthwith. The employer studied the young man's case for some time before breaking the news to him that he was to be separated from the firm's payroll. When the employer had the case analyzed, and was sure of his own self-control, he called the young man into his office and very firmly but kindly told the young man that the merchandising business and he did not agree. The young man naturally became much depressed. Then the employer, like a good doctor, gave his prescription. It was that the young man should seek a position where he would have opportunity to develop his talent for handling machinery. The young man had not noticed about himself what the keen employer had discovered during his study of the young man's case, that he ought to be a machinist.

The sequel to the story is that the young man, having found his real sphere of usefulness in the world, became a successful mechanical engineer and always had a kindly feeling toward his ex-employer who had guided him so courteously into the line of activity where he belonged. That courtesy was a contribution to the economic life of America, besides being of value in the making of a man.

The cash value of lost customers is being given consideration in several trade journals today. The following letter was mailed by a northwestern merchant to a list of 1,200 men who, though once good customers, hadn't purchased from him for at least four months. Seven hundred and thirty people replied to it, either by purchasing goods or dropping in to tell him "why." There is nothing unusual about the letter except perhaps just one thing. It brought amazing returns.

"Dear Sir: If one of these days you should discover that a mighty good friend of yours to whom you had given the best you had in the way of friendship, courtesy and understanding had suddenly stopped visiting you without apparent cause, you'd want to know why, wouldn't you?"

"This business, which has taken me 20 years to make successful, and highly esteemed, is the biggest thing in my life. My customers, in every sense of the word, are my best friends for they make my success a reality. You are one of them. I have honestly tried to give you the best I had in every possible way."

"It is nearly a half year now since you have been in this store. Being human, it is quite possible that I have done something or sold you something with which you weren't thoroughly satisfied. If that is the case, won't you come in and tell me about it, just as one good fellow to another? Even now, if you weren't satisfied with the last purchase I will make things right in the way that will suit you."

"This is no suggestion that you need to buy anything. I would appreciate, though, having an opportunity of talking it over."

"Yours very sincerely,"

HURLEY.
Hurley, April 18.—A son, Peter Claude, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Claude Palen at the Kingston City Hospital April 8.

The funeral of Richard Elmen-dorf of Kingston was held at the home of his brother, Abram Elmen-dorf, Tuesday.

The installation of the pastor, the Rev. Charles W. Smith, will take place May 1.

Hurley has indeed lost a friend by the death of Dr. George W. Nash at Roxbury, Virginia.

THE OFFICE CAT

By Fushko

We have yet to find a man who is good at football and grammar at the same time.

The strut of a turkey gobbler isn't in it with that of the leading citizen in a village.

They say a cat has nine lives, but a frog croaks every night.

In vain to comfort I'm inclined
In vain I seek to grin.
A load of coal is on my mind,
Instead of in the bin.

Saved.

Mother—"Sam, you've been fighting again. You've lost four front teeth!"

Sam (taking a small package from his pocket)—"No, I ain't mother, here they are."

You can explode a theory and you can nail a lie, but you can't drown a rumor, because it floats.

The reason there is so much lawlessness is because there are so many laws.

Needed inventions—a telephone book with wrong numbers to call when you want the right one.

Every argument has two sides until we take one. Then the other side disappears.

When a girl accepts a ride in an auto with a stranger he is justified in thinking just what you do.

One restaurant keeper advertises: "Meals like you used to get in the old home town," and wonders why he doesn't do any business.

There is nothing new under the sun, except, perhaps, the queer things a legislative body thinks of.

"How Are Your Ears?"

Did you ever hear a light squeak?
Did you ever hear a close call?
Did you ever hear a mute appeal?
Did you ever hear muffled silence?
Did you ever hear a silent call?

About the only way to secure safety on the highways is to keep off of them.

There's nothing in a name. Sam Sleeper was a somnambulist, and Joe Drowsy could sit up all night without batting an eye.

A man who will eat scrambled eggs in a cheap restaurant is a real hero.

The pen may be mightier than the sword but France doesn't believe it.

COURTESY WERBELS.

Anyone Can Be Curt, but Not All Are Courteous.

"My dog," says Sam as he puffed his clay pipe, "has real—what do you call it—courtesy, that's it. My dog has that because when he sees me he wags his tail and says to me, says he, 'I'm glad to see you, old man' and then when I give him a bone, my dog wags his tail again and he says to me, says he, 'Thank you.' That dog of mine is no yaller cur—my dog is a gentleman. Some men could learn lessons in courtesy from my dog."

Requires Brains.

It takes more brain power to be courteous than to be curt. Any man can be curt but it takes a gentleman to be courteous.

Courtesy's Hardest Test.

The test of courtesy is its manifestation toward those who, for economic reasons, cannot afford to talk back to you.

Courtesy Here and Hereafter.

Some poet has said that kind words shall never die. The idea conveyed is that somewhere those kind words released from you are working, making life easier and sweeter for the persons who receive them. Then there is another thought conveyed. Supposing that all the kind words we utter are recorded on some sort of a phonographic record to be listened to by us through all the ages after we depart this life. Well, that will be a sort of heaven, won't it? But how about those harsh words? Oh, say, what will be hereafter to listen to? Every man can answer for himself. The moral is: "Better be courteous here so that the record unwound in the hereafter will be of the right kind. There may be more fact to this than speculation."

Be Extravagant—With Courtesy.

One form of extravagance will never get a man into trouble—being extravagant in dispensing courtesy.

Courtesy May Solve Labor Troubles.

Many of the labor troubles of our present time could be avoided by the practice of courtesy. "Come let us reason together" is an attitude that would smooth many a labor disturbance.

NO SOVIET WAR AGAINST RELIGION

Father Butkiewicz Executed Because He Was for Poland as Against Russia, Says American Who Has Obtained Oil Concessions.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin, April 18.—Mason Day, head of the Harpall Corporation, an American company, who has just returned from Russia where he obtained oil concessions, denied today that the Soviet government is conducting war against religion.

"It is absolutely wrong to suppose that the Moscow government has decided to combat Catholicism or religion generally," said Day to Internal News Service.

Father Butkiewicz, the Catholic prelate who was put to death on March 31, was not executed on religious grounds. It was proved in court that he had carried on Polish propaganda, tending to disrupt the home front of the Soviet government, which, of course, was a crime in the eyes of Russian law. This churchman was a Pole by birth. Accompanied by several friends, he visited all the principal churches in Moscow at Easter tide. Not only were the churches filled with worshippers, but the streets outside were jammed. People carried candles and chanted prayers as they passed along. No one interfered with them. They were permitted to worship as their consciences dictated.

The concessions obtained by Day are in the Baku region, the seat of Russia's richest oil-bearing territories. He said that he was most optimistic over his success in obtaining Baku rights and believes that his company will be immensely enriched by the concessions.

RESULTS IN COLUMBIAN LEAGUE

The Columbian School Baseball League for the 1923 season opened Tuesday at Hasbrouck Park and Forsyth Park with Mayor Crane and Selig Oppenheimer tossing over the first balls.

Hasbrouck Park was the scene of much action when the St. Peter's team downed the Immaculate Conception Nine, by a 7 to 1 score. The Polish boys were good hitters, but St. Peter's snappy machine cut them down before they reached the home plate. Patsy Leske was the star player for the losers, holding on everything that came behind the bat.

St. Joseph's team battled its way to an easy victory over St. Mary's at Forsyth Park. The uptown school-boys have a number of Babe Ruths on their team and before the season closes some interesting struggles are expected.

The next games in the league will be played on Tuesday afternoon, April 24, Immaculate Conception vs. St. Joseph's; St. Mary's vs. St. Peter's.

Standing of the Teams.

| Team | W. | L. | Pct. |
|-------------------|----|----|-------|
| St. Joseph's | 1 | 0 | 1.000 |
| St. Peter's | 1 | 0 | 1.000 |

Ty Cobb's Double

Gene Valla of the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast league is described by many sports writers as a double for the famous Georgia peach, Ty Cobb. Valla virtually forced himself into the San Francisco lineup last spring, and during the season acquired the fine batting average of .333, not a figure to be sneered at. Valla plays left field for the Frisco Seals.

New York Is Home of Six Boxing Champions

New York city is the home of six boxing champions. They are: Frankie Genaro, American flyweight; Joe Lynch, world bantamweight; Johnny Dunne, New York state featherweight champion and American junior lightweight; Benny Leonard, world lightweight; Johnny Wilson, world middleweight; and Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight.

Lips Reveal Much.

Shapeless lips show a shapeless character, one which cannot easily be changed and has really no cheerfulness or happiness. Pointing lips show some sulkiness and selfishness, and are only pretty in a very young child. Lips which remain open always show a selfish, rather vacant and inclined to be chatty nature, not very reliable and fond of comfort, ease and gaiety. A flat upper lip shows a want of refinement and a long one shows obstinacy; a short curled upper lip is a good sign, showing a nice nature, genial, charming and refined.

Gustatory Immortality.

Tradition has it that Sally Lunn, who has been immortalized in the cake that bears her name, was a young lady who in the early Seventeenth century sold cakes on the streets of Bath. But who was that Major Grey whose name is attached to a certain brand of chicken? And which of the celebrated Charlottes gave her name to the Charlotte russe? Who were Tom and Jerry, and is it true that Tom Collins was a Boston bartender who moved to Montreal and there achieved fame by serving the concoction that bears his name?—New York Tribune.

"Tenrec" is Odd Animal.

There are several living specimens in zoos, of the "tenrec," the heighog of Madagascar. It is said that stuffed specimens in museums give no adequate idea of these very curious creatures. Their resemblance to hedgehogs rests upon their possession of a spiny covering. The shape of their bodies resembles that of an inflated globe fish. They are insectivorous, and are declared to be restricted to the island of Madagascar. The specimens seen in this country are remarkable for their habit of yawning.

PACKARD

The first consideration in designing the Single-Six was to make it worthy of the Packard name in every respect. A Packard must be, and always will be, a Packard.

It is gratifying to observe how, in the great majority of cases, this fact is taken for granted. It is pertinent to add that the very moderate operating cost that Single-Six owners report may be counted on, whether the model be open or enclosed.

SOUTHARD NOW IN BUSINESS

Joseph Southard of No. 52 Franklin street has resigned his position as foreman with the Michaud, Campbell Company and started in business as a general contractor. Mr. Southard in 1917, built ten large buildings for the powder plant at Fort Ewen and the following year did considerable work for the American Hand Grenade Company at Fort Ewen. During the construction of the Rondout Creek Bridge he had charge of the carpentry work on the structure. He has just completed erecting two large buildings for the Shults brickyard at East Kingston which increases the plant's capacity from 50,000 to 100,000 brick a day. He now has the contract to erect a large dairy building on the Suydam farm on Hurley avenue.

The feature picture tomorrow and Friday is Walter Hiers in "Mr. Billings Spends his Dime," a late Paramount picture of 1923.

They Learn by Reading.
It is true that there is no better way to learn anything unusually well than by teaching what we know of a subject to others. In distant Liberia, a republic in western Africa, the schools have adopted the same plan. Just as soon as any student has mastered the rudiments of one class he begins imparting his knowledge to others. In fact, he is taught mostly by those who have just finished the class above him. Although this system has its disadvantages, according to American standards, it certainly helps the young teachers themselves, as regulation instructors are not easily obtained. So eager are the children for instruction that many of them walk eight miles to school through swamps and over poor roads.

Boring Hole in Glass.
It has been said that one way to bore a hole in a piece of glass was to build up a circular dam of damp clay or sand and pour molten lead into the "crater." Now it has been learned that this method, while formerly in use for some types of glass boring, is not practical with present-day glass and when the holes are made in this way they are uneven and unsatisfactory. Glass experts say that the present approved method for small holes is to grind a three-cornered file down to a sharp point and use it as a drill after first pouring turpentine on the glass at the point where it is to be drilled.

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub the Mulsified in. It makes an abundance of rich creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it is very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

KENTUCKY ACTIVE IN WAR ON SCRUB SIRES

Wayne County Farmers Careful of Breeding Stock.

Twenty-Two Purebred Beef Bulls Placed on Farms During Last Fiscal Year—Grade Animals Were Formerly Used.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture from Wayland Rhoads, field agent in animal husbandry for the University of Kentucky, shows effective work in live stock improvement. Following are representative results: In Wayne county 22 purebred beef bulls were placed on farms during the last fiscal year. These animals were either shipped in or purchased at purebred sire sales. Wayne county is a mountainous region, and although the live stock industry is not highly developed, farmers are giving a great deal of attention to the quality of their stock.

The average weight of baby heaves at a recent show was 1,275 pounds.

The Large Animal is an Aberdeen-Angus Steer 1 Year Old; the Small One is a Pinney-Woods Steer 3 1/2 Years Old—Better Breeding is One of the Principal Methods of Overcoming Runtiness in Live Stock.

Prize money for the show amounted to $1,700, which will be increased next year to $3,000.

A cattleman in Crittendon county, Kentucky, reports that he has been offered three cents a pound more for his feeder calves since he used purebred sires. Formerly his bulls were grades, but having used purebreds he expresses his intention never to return to grade sires.

As typical of the determination of Kentucky communities to improve their live stock, following is one day's work of County Agent John R. Spencer and M. Wayland Rhoads of the State university, who was with him that day: The farmers visited disposed of scrub bulls and ordered good purebreds; four farmers disposed of scrub rams, 21 signed enrollment blanks in the "Better Sires-Better Stock" movement, pledging themselves to use purebred sires only; a farmer placed an order for a purebred dairy bull from a register-of-merit cow; and the same day a full program of work for further live stock improvement was drawn up with the farm bureau executive committee. The foregoing statements are believed to be of educational interest since nine years ago more than 80 per cent of the bulls in the county were scrubs.

DON'T POISON INNOCENT BEES

Many of the Little Honey Gatherers Are Destroyed by Spraying at Wrong Time.

Why poison the innocent bee by spraying your fruit trees in full bloom, when it is absolutely unnecessary? "The only way to save and protect our bees," says R. E. Vaughan, plant disease expert at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, "is to conduct a spray at the right time." He is heartily in favor of the resolution No. 1, passed by the forty-fourth annual convention of the Wisconsin State Bee Keepers' association.

"We don't stop to think of the damage we do to the bees in the neighborhood every time we spray our trees when in full bloom," says Mr. Vaughan. "It does no good to spray trees when in full bloom."

R. H. Roberts of the horticultural department of the University of Wisconsin and a fruit specialist, also is in favor of the resolution. He says we must realize the importance of bee-keeping, and arrange our work so that we can do our spraying at the proper time.

CURE HAY FROM ANNUAL CROP

Considerable Bother Experienced With Soy Beans and Millet Because No Sod Formed.

It is always considerable bother to cure hay from an annual crop like soy beans or millet, because no sod is formed as in the case with clover. Clover is more cheaply grown because it is sown with a grain crop. For soy beans the land must be plowed, prepared and seeded.

BYRNE BROS.

B'way and Henry St., Kingston

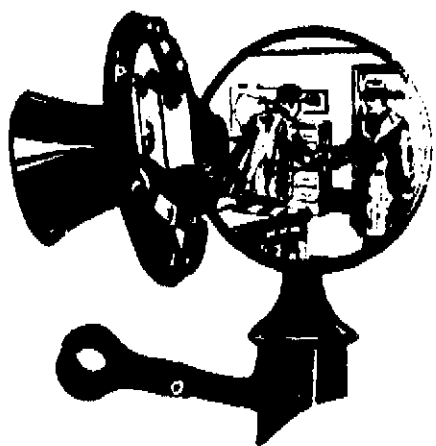

Excellent Reason.
The fair crowd was fair indeed, but to her lessons gave no heed. On the campus a group of seniors had her under discussion. It was all more in sorrow than in anger. "That girl is silly," declared one. "So silly she'll never graduate," asserted another. "Never mind," remarked a third, "she won't need to." There was a big flutter over this. "Why not?" chimed the chorus. "One of the professors is going to marry her."—Toronto Telegram.

Absolutely Nothing.
A modest man was unexpectedly called on to make a few appropriate remarks in this wise: "A farmer started to town with a load of apples. The wagon box gave away, unbeknown to him, and all the fruit spilled out. A short distance further, in an attempt to cross a boggy place, his wagon became mired. Turning in his seat and discovering the apples gone, he exclaimed: 'Stuck, by heck, and nothing to unload!'"

Solitaire.
If you can afford, attach a solitaire to your home and furnish it with rutilant or wicker furniture and crochets. Everyone will enjoy it. You will find it the most attractive place in which to entertain your afternoon visitors.

Meaning of "Unimpaired."
The word "unimpaired" means "having, or consisting of, a single chamber," and is applied to a legislative assembly.

How Quickly Do You Open Your Telephone Door?

YOUR telephone is a door to your establishment. In some lines of business more trade flows through it than through the office door.

The customer who calls on you by telephone deserves the same prompt, courteous attention that you give to the customer who visits you in person.

Delayed answers consume valuable time and often disturb business and social relations.

It is both courtesy and good business to open your telephone door promptly.

CAPT. ARMITAGE HERE APRIL 27

At K. W. S. Auditorium Under Auspices of Athletic Association—Classmates Vouch For His Ability as an Entertainer.

For the past two weeks, posters have been on display advertising an entertainment at the high school on the evening of April 27. This entertainment is to be given by Captain Frank Guy Armitage, an Englishman with an almost unrivalled ability to portray famous characters of literature. He graduated from Springfield College in 1916, with a degree qualifying him as general Y. M. C. A. secretary. When the war came, he enlisted in the Canadian army as a private, and served with them throughout the war, rising steadily until he assumed the title of captain, a position which he held until the armistice was declared. When he came out of the army, he again went into the entertainment game. He is now booked by the Redpath Lyceum Bureau of Rochester, the agency that fosters Chautauquans.

The program which will be given here will be a varied one, consisting of character portrayal, ventriloquism, magic, and other features. Mr. Armitage's hobby, and the feature he stars in, is the portrayal of the characters found in the works of Dickens.

Being well informed on the merits of Mr. Armitage's productions, both Mr. Hall and Mr. Buley, who were college chums of his, will vouch for it that a very enjoyable evening is in store for those who make the most of the opportunity afforded by his appearing in this city.

Captain Armitage will appear under the auspices of the Kingston High School Athletic Association.

Nicotine.

Nicotine is an alkaloid. It belongs to that important class of organic substances which are particularly characterized by their extremely potent physiological properties, observes the Scientific American. They are all very deadly poisons and generally of great utility to the physician. Such substances as morphine, cocaine, heroin, strychnine, caffeine are alkaloids. Nicotine can, accordingly, exert a powerful action on the human system; in fact, it is a deadly poison, almost as poisonous as prussic acid gas. Nicotine itself is used on rare occasions in medicine as an antidote in strychnine poisoning and in the treatment of tetanus. Nicotine contains the element nitrogen. Accordingly tobacco that is grown in a very rich soil which has been fertilized with a strong nitrogenous manure will be high in nicotine.

Woods Differ Materially.

Woods are chosen not only because of their special fitness for a certain piece of furniture but equally as much because of their accessibility. There were long periods of cabinet making when mahogany was out of vogue, simply because market conditions made it almost impossible to obtain it. Just so, today, mahogany is an accepted highbrow of the furniture world because the makers can rather readily obtain it. Oak, walnut and maple are considered more of a fashion than the chestnut, cedar, cypress and pine of long ago centuries, because they are more adaptable to the cabinet maker's hand. Then, too, beauty of grain, wearing qualities and necessary hardness or softness of the wood determine its use for different types of furniture.

Another Scheme.

A feminine voice was heard from the steps of a crowded car: "Oh, get in, dear, some one will give you a seat." The next moment two young women entered. The men in the car were on their mettle. They read papers sternly. Those who had no papers closed their eyes and pretended to slumber. The two certain women glanced down the car in vain. The car went on for half a mile, and then a man alighted. "There's a seat for one," said the conductor. "Don't take it, dear," said one of the young women, "some man will want it." In the moment of defeat she triumphed.

Retain Patience in Fall.

Farmers are urged to stop the practice of selling their poultry in the fall. There are worth more as winter layers than as meat for the table. Winter eggs must come from the poultry, so these should be kept and not sold off.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

FAIRBANKS A SCOUTMASTER

When Chief Scout Executive James E. West returned to New York from his extensive western and northwestern tour, the most interesting piece of news he had for the boy scout world, at least as far as the boys were concerned, was the announcement that Douglas Fairbanks will become an official scoutmaster.

Mr. West with Wm. G. McAdoe, national vice president of the Boy Scouts of America, had an interesting visit with Mr. Fairbanks in California, at which time Mr. Fairbanks consented not only to take up active leadership of a troop of his own, but to develop a film of this troop, showing the recreational activities and character building and citizenship training of the Boy Scout program.

Thomas Patton, the Los Angeles representative of Will Hays, was also a member of the party which called on Fairbanks. Fairbanks has agreed to give the boy scout film his fullest and best efforts. He is delighted with the prospect of serving the boyhood of the nation as scoutmaster in "the greatest boy movement in the world today." He says:

"I wish to pay my respects to Mr. McAdoe and that wonderful bunch of fellows, the Boy Scouts. Tell them I am thrilled to death with the prospect of being a scoutmaster, and I am sure when my little hand is humming we shall make a noise that will circle the globe."

For five weeks Mr. West has been touring scout centers of the Middle West, West and Northwest. He is enthused with the healthy condition of scouting in America today, but believes there is nothing more important, next to holding up the high standard of work, which is being done, than to make this program available to more of the seven million boys of scout age in America who are not scouts.

VICE PRESIDENT'S ADVICE

The friendship of former Vice President Marshall for scouting is of long standing, dating back to the very beginning of the movement. Mr. Marshall as president of the senate signed the congressional bill, incorporating the Boy Scouts of America, February 8th, 1910. The former vice president who keeps in close and sympathetic touch with scout affairs, recently in Indianapolis, conferred the highest award of rank which scouting offers, the Eagle badge, on three boys at a Court of Honor meeting. "I sincerely hope that when you grow to your majority you will practice the same loyalty to your country that you now show to your scout leaders," he said in addressing the scouts. "You have attained a high honor in scouting, but do not let it make you 'cheer.' Just think that nature has made you a little more fitted to qualify for this honor, and always remember to lend a helping hand to your less fortunate brother scouts, and aid them in every possible way to attain this honor also."

SCOUT AIDS STRICKEN MEN

Edward Hartzell of Buffalo, N. Y., showed that he had learned his scout work well when, with the aid of a policeman, he resuscitated two men whom he saw stagger to the street and collapse. The men had been working in their garage and were both overcome at the same time from the effect of the gasoline fumes.

BOY SCOUTS FIND LOST BABY

Boy scouts of Keokuk, Utah, and the scout motto "Be Prepared," were two big factors in the discovery of a three-year-old child, who recently strayed from home. When the little one was missed a group of boys composed of a larger part of boy scouts promptly began an organized search. Several hours later the baby was found by three of the scouts. Cold and weak, she was taken home in a sweater of one of the boys.

The black bear is always glad to drink and be merry with its keeper, says Nature Magazine, but not the polar bear, whose attendant wisely avoids risking himself in the same encounter.

Coral Aids in Building.

The fossil coral of the Fiji Islands is the best building stone in the world. When first cut it is almost as soft as cheese, but it solidifies in the air until it is almost as hard as granite.

Imputation.
A young man with a pretty but flirtatious fiancée wrote to a supposed friend: "I've been told that you have been kissing my girl. Come to my office at eleven on Friday. I want to have this matter out." The rival answered: "I've received a copy of your circular letter and will be present at the meeting."

The recipe for making the original eau de cologne was discovered more than two hundred years ago, and since that time it has been entrusted to only a dozen persons. The written copy of the recipe is kept in a crystal goblet, under triple locks, in a room in which the essential oils are blended.

JURY FINDS FOR F. A. WATERS, JR.

After being out several hours, the jury in the case of the F. A. Waters, Jr. Company, Inc., against Francis A. Waters, Jr., which was tried in county court on Tuesday, came in court late in the afternoon and returned a verdict in favor of Mr. Waters.

The suit was brought by the Waters Company to recover $500 on a note which was claimed by Leo F. Herbert, treasurer of the company, to have been given as part of the purchase price of the Waters ice house property and equipment when Mr. Waters bought back such property from the corporation. Mr. Waters claimed the note was given simply as an accommodation note inasmuch as Mr. Herbert found it impossible to discount two demand notes aggregating $540 given by the corporation to him which he had intended to turn back to the corporation as part of the purchase price. Mr. Waters therefore made a counterclaim for the amount of the two notes held by him, which Mr. Herbert claimed were to have been given to him when he bought the Waters stock in the company.

The jury's verdict in favor of Mr. Waters was for $63, which represented the difference between the amount of the note held by Mr. Herbert and the two notes held by him, plus interest.

The Waters Company was represented by Newton H. Fessenden, with Frank W. Brooks, of counsel. Waters was represented by William D. Brinley, Jr.

EXHIBITION OF COLLEGES AT "Y"

Starting Next Week, to Help Students Choose the School With Best Advantages and Its Minimum Requirements.

After high school, what? College? Most students answer in the affirmative. Some say business school, which really is college after all. The majority of students now attending high school plan on some further educational work, whether it be at a school of arts, polytechnical school, professional school, or business school. Few harbor the idea of going out and conquering the world with the roll of white paper received at the high school graduation. But about ninety per cent of those who want to go to school do not know where they want to go, and often have no definite plans for the work they will take up if they do go. There is always a last minute rush, a tearing around for advice, a scouring of catalogues for the requirements, and often the failure to get accommodations after the eleventh hour decision. To prevent this, many talks have been given at the high school, but still some fail to get things settled at the proper time. Few of the parents realize what the different colleges stand for, and what college would be best for their children.

To give children, parents, and interested citizens the opportunity of seeing the advantages of the various schools, to stimulate the interest of people in the different colleges, and to inform them of the main things, the minimum requirements, there will be a special exhibition next week, to be held in the Y. M. C. A. lobby, starting on Monday, April 23, and continuing all week. Boys' Secretary Hall and Principal Lewis have arranged the display, aided by the Chamber of Commerce and the colleges represented. The minimum requirements of all the schools represented have been listed and put in chart form. Not only catalogues, but pictures of various activities, student publications, banners, and many other things that will prove interesting to all will be exhibited there for the full week. The public is cordially invited. There will be no admission charged and no taxes for information.

MRS. LAUREN AGAIN HEAD OF LADIES' AID SOCIETY.

Annual Presbyterian Turkey Dinner and Fair November 20 and 21.

Mrs. Harry P. Lauren of West Pierpont street was re-elected president of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Rondout Presbyterian Church at the annual meeting held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Miss George Deudney on Broadway. The other officers elected were: Vice president, Mrs. Mary Kent; Comptroller, Mrs. Charles R. O'Connor; treasurer, Mrs. Louis Beers.

The officers and members of the nominating committee presented Miss Deudney with a large bouquet of carnations. Miss Deudney has served the society as an officer for the past fourteen years and desired to be relieved of duty.

The dates for the annual turkey dinner and fair were fixed. This year the events will be held on November 20 and 21.

The annual strawberry shortcake supper will be held some time in June.

The reports of the various officers showed that the society was in a flourishing condition.

Hydrotic School Opening.

The Hydrotic School of Occupational Therapy at Woodstock will hold its third summer class from July 8 to August 18, 1923. Instruction will be offered in wood carving, modelling, pottery, leather work, basketry, weaving, bobbin lace making and metal work. Applications blanks and information may be had from Miss North Thompson, director of the school.

MOSHIER, CATCHER, NOW WITH ASTORS

E. Moshier, star catcher of the Pittsfield Club of the Eastern League, was signed on Tuesday to catch for the Astors of Rhinebeck. Moshier will be in the lineup when the team stacks up against the Kingston Colonials on Saturday in this city.

It is not known as yet who will do the hurling for the Rhinebeckers now that Beecher has become a member of the club. The consensus of opinion however seems to be that Buckley will have "Red" Causey up from New York in an effort to trim the Colonials the first time up.

It is reported that Manager Buckley's popularity has dwindled somewhat because of the agreement which he has reached with J. William Schatz. The Rhinebeck residents do not object to having players from the outside represent their village but they do seriously object to having an outside manager.

COLD BUT FAIR FOR GAME AT ST. LOUIS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

St. Louis, April 18.—Seasonably cold but fair weather greeted the Detroit Tigers and the St. Louis Browns at Sportsman's Park for the season's opening game this afternoon.

The Browns were minus the great George Sisler at the initial bag. Cedric Durst, a promising youngster, was guarding first base in Sisler's absence.

Cobb's crew, but little changed from last season, were ready for the battle. Ty himself expected to adorn the center garden with the old faithfuls, Veach and Heilmann, left and right, respectively.

Urban Shocker was expecting the hurling assignment for the Browns while he was to be opposed by Collins on the mound for Detroit.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE SEASON OPENS TODAY.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, April 18.—The International League season will get away to a running start today with ball games in each of the four cities in the southern half of the circuit. For the 1923 inaugural, Toronto will appear in Jersey City, Rochester in Newark, Syracuse in Baltimore and Buffalo in Reading.

"Our outlook for 1923 seems unusually bright," President John Conway Toole commented today in discussing the opening. "I consider that we now have ideal circuit and a well balanced race should be the result."

DEAR TO HEART OF INDIAN

Horses and Calico Always Among the Gifts Exchanged After Ceremonial Visit Is Over.

Horses are always considered among Indians the very finest present that can be given, and following a visit of one tribe to another, as the homeward trek is in progress, each Indian family will have several leading behind, presents from their late hosts. The Poncas, Gros, Pawnees, Cheyennes and several other of the plains tribes, use a spring wagon and a team with which to travel about the country, and in the warmer months of the year it is not unusual to encounter long strings of these going on a visit to some other tribe.

Bolts of gaily colored calico constitute the popular gift, whenever an entertainment of any kind is being given the Indian by white persons. It matters not what the other presents may be, there are always many bolts of calico, and these are always gratefully received and appreciated.

It has been the custom of many of the tribes for centuries for the squaws to carry their papposes on their back, with the babies strapped to boards and then placed upright over the women's shoulders. Calico is always wrapped around boards which happen to be about the right length for pappose carriers. In the old days when the traders bartered bolts of calico for pelts the squaws immediately grabbed these boards on which the cloth was bound, for their infants, and this custom is followed to the present day. In fact, the squaws visit the merchants in Ponca City and other towns where the Indians trade, and have all of the boards saved for this particular purpose.

Another Air-Propeller Boat.

While there is nothing absolutely new in the idea of driving a boat by means of an air propeller, a craft recently invented is distinctly novel because its builder has made use of a much larger propeller than is generally employed for this purpose. This air-driven boat has been constructed in France, where air-driven craft have always attracted considerable attention on the part of ingenious Frenchmen. The propeller is mounted on a tall skeleton stand, an extension of which may be used as a mast. The propeller turns at a slow rate, but owing to its large spread it moves a sufficient volume of air to propel the boat along at a leisurely speed.—Scientific American.

World's Largest Organ.

The largest organ in existence is in Sydney, New South Wales. The organ of the great organ in Music hall, Boston, by a German builder, Walcker, of Wurtemberg, gave the first impetus to public interest in the matter. Roosevelt of New York and Jardine, likewise of New York, soon became two of the best-known organ builders in America. Among the largest organs in America are the organs of the Roman Catholic cathedral, Montreal; the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, in this city, which possesses 60 stops; Music hall, Cincinnati, with 60 stops and four manuals, and the Tremont Temple of this city with 60 stops.—Boston Globe.

U. S. AIRMEN HOLD 9 NEW RECORDS

Speed, Endurance and Weight Carrying Performances by Army and Navy Men Tuesday Set New Marks For French.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Dayton, O., April 18.—The United States air service "brought home the bacon."

Today Lieut. John A. MacReady, Oakley G. Kelley and Harold R. Harris are receiving the congratulations of their superior officers in Washington and hundreds of friends for their remarkable achievements of yesterday and last night. All three of them had a hand in "shooting the moon" and the two respective planes hung up records which rob France of everything she claimed and hung crepe on the front door. MacReady and Kelley, who started their world endurance flight Monday morning at 9:40, landed last night at 9:43 after being in the air 36 hours and 3 minutes and covering a distance of 2,516.18 miles.

Lieut. Harris, meanwhile, was clipping off the miles against time at an average hourly speed of 114 miles for the whole time—11 hours approximately.

He broke existing records for 1,500 and 2,000 kilometers. He started his flight at 6:28 a. m. Tuesday and landed at 5:21 p. m. the same day. Harris flew much lower than the T-2, which remained at 2,000 feet practically all day.

Then the navy got busy and proceeded to show the army it could do something in the way of flying on its own hook.

Lieut. Rutledge Irvine, Anacostia, Washington, D. C., set a dead weight carrying record in a Dayton-Wright naval plane, just built. This flight lasted two and a half hours and convinced even the most skeptical of the stability of this ship.

The plane was loaded with a 1,600 pound torpedo and 600 pounds of shot, making a total weight of the plane with the pilot and observer of 6,000 pounds. It climbed upward and upward and touched 11,300 feet. Then the naval flier descended. Their plane, it was said, could have gone to 19,000 feet had it been equipped with a supercharger. And this may be done at an early date and the ship sent after the kilometer records set by the T-2 while she was riding to a world record.

These records were as follows: 2,501 kilometers, 21 hours, 37 minutes, 27 seconds, average speed 71.56 miles per hour; 3,000 kilometers, 26 hours, 1 minute, 22 seconds, average speed 71.3 miles per hour; 3,500 kilometers, 30 hours, 28 minutes, 51 seconds, average speed 71.2 miles per hour; 4,000 kilometers, 35 hours, 6 minutes and 53 seconds, average speed 71 miles an hour.

All told nine records were made in the three flights at the two fields, which the air service officials were inclined to regard as a pretty fair day's work.

WOULD CHANGE THE WORLD

Chemist's Assertion That He Can Obtain Hydrogen From Water Is Most Important.

Germans have dreamed a lot of things, or have been reported as dreaming a lot of things in chemical discovery since the war ended. If a Munich chemist has found a way of getting cheap hydrogen from water, and has patented it, his patent might be said to be worth enough to pay all Germany's reparations.

This is chemistry's crack of gold. All around us is water in unlimited supply. Two-thirds of that water is the hottest burning gas we know of. Professor Einstein is right in asserting that fuel conditions the world over would be revolutionized if water could be inexpensively transmuted into its oxygen and hydrogen.

We spend immense sums for coal, anthracite and bituminous, dug out of deep mines by strenuous toil, carried at large expense in railroad cars to our cities, trucked to our individual coal bins with more expense. Hydrogen gas would do its work better in every way, both for factory and home use. And instead of working to exhaust a fixed supply, already estimated, we should take nothing from nature that would not be restored. The hydrogen, burning, would not cease to be hydrogen. It would precipitate itself when recombined with oxygen and become water again without man's assistance.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Wonderland Outdoors.

Everybody knows of the mock turtle and his profane tears described in Lewis Carroll's famous book. There is one person who claims to have seen a number of them. A young attaché of the Mexican legation several years ago was being shown the sights of Washington by an American friend. Dropping into a restaurant for lunch, their first dish proved to be mock turtle soup. That led the Mexican into an animated account of a trip across the Caribbean sea, in the course of which, he said, they passed a bare rock "amply covered with mock turtles." "Excuse me," said the American, smiling, "you don't mean mock turtles, but just turtles." "Indeed I mean what I say," the other repeated, with warmth. "I mean mock turtles—the genuine mock turtles."

Captive Beasts Flee.

To capture an elephant that is a "perfect 66" and a tiger with a natural complexion, the American Museum of Natural History has sent an expedition into India. Officials of that institution say that animals kept in captivity soon lose the coloration of skin and fur which they have in the wild state. Their skins, on as the collection put it, "lose their natural coloration," also become so changed that they represent these kind but poorly.

WAVE LENGTHS
FOR 30 CITIESAre Given Out Under Hoover's
New System—Stations Using 300
Meters May Continue To Do So.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, April 18.—Specific wave lengths for thirty-six cities where there are important broadcasting stations, were made public today by Secretary of Commerce Hoover.

The allocations were arranged following the national radio conference in Washington recently and have been sent to the district inspectors.
Slight changes to meet local conditions may be necessary, Secretary
Hoover pointed out.

Every station which the department has so far heard from has willingly fallen in with the plan.
Secretary Hoover said. "Of course it is understood that any station now operating on 300 meters had the privilege of remaining on that wave length."

Chief Radio Inspector W. D.
Terrell said the plan of putting the new radio regulations into effect
May 15 would be carried out.
Within a short time after that date it is anticipated the new system will be in smooth working order.

The wave lengths announced are for cities and not for specific stations. Among the allocations in zone one are:

Springfield and Wellesley Hills,
Mass., 327 meters; Schenectady and Troy, N. Y., 330 meters; New York city, 402, 455, 492 meters.

TAGGING ALL THE

Little Heinie Groh grabbed all the glory in the victory of the Giants over the Braves in the opening game at Boston, blowing himself to a homer and a triple.

Just when it looked like the Phillins were going to start the season with a win, the Dodgers fell on Hob-bitt, Mitchell and Walters getting enough runs through hits and free passes to tie the score in the sixth.
The game continued deadlocked until the 14th when darkness called a halt.

Grimm's double in the fourth, clearing the bases, was enough for Pittsburgh to win from Chicago in the opening game 3 to 2.

Gurn's single in the eleventh, scoring Wingo, gave Cincinnati an eleven inning victory over St. Louis.

AMERICAN LEAGUE SEASON OPENS

Babe Ruth Likely to Make First Strikeout or First Homer in Yankee's New Park—Shawkey to Pitch Against Red Sox.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, April 18. Much after the manner of the social grand dame who considers it had form to arrive early, the American League season of 1923 will have itself announced today, just 24 hours later than the contemporaneous National Leaguers. The reception committee will number around 150,000, bunched in the stands of four major league parks and to most of them the social register is a list of those who hit .300 and a family tree is a plant that bears only raspberries for those who do not.

It will be the usual wide open, spacious occasion of other years but this time its prominence will be augmented by the fact that the New York Yankees are to open their new park, the greatest collection of concrete and steel that baseball has ever known. Nearly 70,000 fans will be present for the dedication of this impressive monument to baseball's prosperity, a capacity crowd being assured.

Harry Frazee and the Boston Red Sox are to enjoy the cut in one attendance figure which will establish a new high record by many thousands of persons and dollars.

All reservations were sold to the last seat two days ago, but at noon today some 52,000 unreserved seats will be placed on sale at the park coincident with the opening of the gates. The rush of the bourgeoisie upon these positions is expected to be appalling.

Everyone who is anyone will be among those present. Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, Lord High Executioner of Baseball, will dignify the occasion with his presence and, perhaps, a few well chosen words. Governor Al Smith will try out his throwing arm. Mayor Hylan, Police Commissioner Earlight and the board of aldermen, in toto, will occupy field boxes and John Philip Sousa will wave his magic wand at a collection of assorted musicians. All in.

The honor of pitching the opening game of the new field has fallen to Bob Shawkey, plodding, conscientious, smart, withal, a deserving young man. George Herman Ruth, the well known ball player, will also grace the occasion but there seems to be a reasonable doubt as to whether he will attain the honors of the first home run or the first strike out.

Major General Bullard, commander of the department of the east; General Shaden, of West Point Military Academy and other notables, military and civil, will take part in the ceremonies.

Somewhat less glamorous, perhaps, but equally ceremonious, in which the Washington Senators will collaborate with the Philadelphia Athletics at Shibe Park, the Chicago White Sox and the Cleveland Indians will play at Dunn Field and the Detroit Tigers and the St. Louis Browns at Sportsman's Park.

The Tigers are starting the season with better prospects of success than at any time since Huey Jennings lost off winning pennants back in 1909 but those of a sentimental turn of mind will regret the enforced absence of George Sizer from the St. Louis team opening owing to illness. The Tigers are generally picked as the Yankees' main contender but the loss of Sizer, even though temporary, has caused a decline in the Browns' stock.

The White Sox and the Indians are both highly esteemed as first division probabilities. The Cleveland entry in particular, while the Athletics are granted a chance to make the leading four for the first time since Connie Mack dismantled his 1914 champions, the Senators and the Red Sox are thought to be chronic second runners, although the Senators may make the dope take a standing-sitting-standing dive off the deep and before the close of what promises to be the greatest of all campaigns.

Scott to Play Today.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, April 18. It was officially announced today that Everett Scott, holder of the world's record for consecutive playing, would be able to appear in the Yankee lineup this afternoon in the opening game of the 1923 season with the Boston Red Sox. Scott injured his ankle in an exhibition contest at Springfield, Mo., last week.
